

Wednesday A.M.

Dear Mother;

I received your letter last night, and I was so glad to get it, as I had had none all day, and only a card from Anabel the day before.

Dr. Knowlton and Sylvia haven't been to see me yet.

Monday night there was a canoe carnival, which was very pretty. There was a Chinese junk, a pirate boat, an Indian canoe, a canoe titled "The Lady of Venice", a clown boat, ^{and} a dragon boat. "The Lady of Venice" got the prize for beauty, ^{the pirates for} originality and the Chinese junk, ^{for originality} and beauty.

This Saturday we are going to have the Circus. Each team is going to give an entertainment. The team I am in is going to have a family out riding in an auto. I am going to be one of the wheels. I think the whole thing will be nice, and I wish you could see it.

How long is Lucy going to stay? Be sure and bring her down. I am so anxious to see her and the rest of you.

I am so glad I am not going home this week, as many of the girls are. I am just about settled and all of the fun comes at the last. The first of August another girl is coming in this tent.

Sunday I came sick and I'm most over now. I didn't flow much.

Lovingly, Julie.

P.S. Thank you for sending Piggys card, and I would write to her but I haven't her address.

Love,
Julie.
